

Boost your company's performance and efficiency with AT&T Dedicated Internet

Dedicated versus shared internet:

Is private performance right for your business?

With 4.6B active users worldwide, the internet is a crowded place.*

Public internet connections like broadband provide shared access: that means performance can fluctuate in response to the number of any given users.

Dedicated internet gives businesses a private connection with predictable service and exceptional performance.

Boost your company's performance and efficiency by securing a private connection with

Dedicated internet offers:

High reliability: to connect employees, partners, and customers.

Highly secure: to protect your business against DDoS attacks, spamming, and sophisticated intrusion techniques.

Dedicated service: Private data transmission for your business's use only.

High versatility: for mission-critical applications such as Voice over Internet Protocol (VoIP), Virtual Private Networks (VPNs), and High Definition video conferencing.

Speed: Symmetrical access with upload and download speeds ranging up to 1 Tbps.

With dedicated internet's performance and reliability, you can avoid service outages and enhance your customers' experiences.

- Improve online ordering
- Provide access to payment processing
- Prioritize video and file exchange traffic in near-real time
- Support critical cloud applications
- Increase the security of sensitive financial transactions
- Facilitate virtual teaching for education or healthcare
