

Get easy, hassle-free enterprise-grade security for your small business

Small businesses can't hide from cyberattacks. You need protection that is low cost, easy to manage, and agile enough to grow with your business.

Problem: SMBs are under attack. In fact, 67% SMBs experienced a cyberattack in the past year.¹

SMBs need: The same level of protection against advanced malware, including ransomware and data loss, as large enterprises.

Problem: Security solutions can be expensive, especially when protecting your connection to the internet for multiple locations.

SMBs need: Reliable, secure internet service and the ability to budget with costs spread over an extended period of time.

Problem: It's not always feasible to hire dedicated security specialists because of cost and labor shortages.

SMBs need: The ability to outsource the deployment, day-to-day management, and monitoring to a trusted third-party.
